Growers Blast Railways; Endorse Transport Study

By Courier Staff Writer
VERNON—B.C. Tree Fruits has been instructed to look into the feasibility of the fruit industry operating its own transportation system. This was unanimously decided near the close of the three-day BCFGPA convention last night. The parley broke up at midnight. The resolution hit out at the railways for increasing freight rates, while at the same time growers' returns have been steadily diminishing.

BCFGPA Parley Was Best Ever

By W. BEAVER-JONES
Daily Courier Staff Writer
VERNON—Fruit growers, representing 3,600-odd Okanagan producers, today are enroute to their homes following one of the most interesting sessions in the colorful 70-year history of the organization. As predicted, there was no "fireworks." The now-famous MacPhee Report played a prominent role in the tone of the convention. Delegates waded through resolutions to close on midnight last night before the three-day parley adjourned. Representatives of the 24-odd BCFGPA locals, from Kamloops, south to the border and east to the Kootenays, were determined to get a good hearing—and A. R. Garrish, noted for running a convention in a smooth and efficient manner—did not stifle debate on any of the resolutions, nor during the question period when heads of the industry-owned concerns gave reports on their stewardship. There was no doubt that Prof.

LATE FLASHES

Twelve Anthracite Miners Trapped

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—Crews tried today to stop the rain-swollen Susquehanna River from pouring its freezing waters into a nearby anthracite mine where 12 miners were either trapped or drowned. Thirty-three other miners escaped when the rushing river suddenly ate a hole into the Knox Coal Company tunnel at nearby Port Griffith just before noon Thursday.

Showcase Trial Convicts Major

HAVANA (AP)—The defendant in Havana's first showcase war crimes trial was convicted just before dawn today and sentenced to the electric chair. A three-man tribunal of Fidel Castro's revolutionary officers found Jesus Sosa Blanco, a 31-year-old career army officer, guilty on five counts of murder, homicide, robbery, looting and damage.

Hemingway Sees Castro Success

SEATTLE (AP)—Novelist Ernest Hemingway predicts smooth sailing for the Castro regime in Cuba following a period of violent readjustment. Hemingway made his prediction after revealing that youths he had known had been murdered by the followers of Fulgencio Batista.

Death Toll Up In Wake Of Storms

CHICAGO (AP)—Cold waters and chunks of ice swept rivers, carrying threats of fresh havoc to flood zones in the northeastern quarter of the U.S. today. Thousands of persons were homeless. Losses mounted into many millions.

The death toll rose to 91. Illinois counted 13, Wisconsin 13, Ohio 13, Iowa 8, Indiana 6, Texas 6, Michigan 6, Kansas 5, Kentucky 5, New York 5, New Mexico 3, Pennsylvania 3, Missouri 2, New Jersey 1, Oklahoma 2.

GREAT BRITAIN
LONDON (Reuters)—More flooding occurred in southern and central England today as rivers swollen by heavy rain and snow continued to rise.

In more than 20 countries water spilled over the banks of the Thames, the Severn and other rivers, covering farmland and swamping streets in towns and cities.

AUSTRALIA
MELBOURNE (AP)—Killing heat returned to Melbourne today as the mercury climbed past 100 again. Hospitals issued urgent appeals for more air conditioning units in hopes of preventing a repetition of the infant death toll of last weekend.

Temperatures of 107, 108, and 109 on three successive days from last Saturday killed at least 100 people across Australia. Of these more than 20 were Melbourne babies.

CANADA
The mercury kept on the hop today across Canada, tracing the moods of a mixed-up January weather pattern that saw a 40-degree temperature drop at Ottawa in 24 hours and bathed central Nova Scotia in a summer-like 58.

Most of the Maritimes were awash from an eastward-sweeping thaw. In the West, it was bitter cold—the highest reading all day Thursday in the eastern prairies was five below zero.

SEEK SUBSIDY STUDY
The convention also asked that federal and provincial authorities look into the possibility of subsidies in place of freight rate increases.

Delegates went on record requesting the services of Dean E. D. MacPhee to act in an advisory capacity insofar as future moves are concerned.

Growers also went on record asking that a Canadian fruit board be established to handle the entire national and international selling of fruit, and that a minimum price for fruit be set, commensurate with the cost of production.

Delegates also favored a "co-operative" move on the part of all fruit-raising areas in the world, so that "all futile and destructive cut-throat competition" may become a thing of the past, and superseded by some form of orderly marketing "such as this organization, has demonstrated to be feasible among the growers of this province."

JOBLESS PAY
Once again they asked the government to make unemployment insurance available for fruit growers. Similar resolutions have been approved in the past.

They tabled a motion which asked that the industry establish its own magazine to keep growers better informed on their activities. They will ask that additional machinery items be exempt from B.C. Sales Tax.

Federal government price support on all produce grown in the tree fruit area, has been requested. Money growers received from the federal government last year, was a "subsidiary" payment, delegates were told. They will ask establishment of a price support program on all tree fruits based on the cost of production on a regional basis.

Pearson Stymies Churchill

OTTAWA (CP)—What is "just impossible" to the government is easy as pie for the Liberals, Opposition Leader Pearson suggested in the Commons today.

At the opening of the sitting he rose on a question of privilege to refer to the government's action last week in providing only three copies — two for MPs and one for the Parliamentary Press.

Gallery — of the trade department's economic forecast for 1958, hitherto confidential.

Mr. Pearson noted that when he had asked that more copies be made available, Trade Minister Churchill had said it was "just impossible" to accede to the request.

And so, the Opposition leader said with a flourish, the National Liberal Federation had produced 400 copies for the convenience of MPs and the press. The report contains 31 pages plus nine statistical tables.

The copies, subsequently distributed, carried prominently on the cover the Liberal federation's crest together with an account of Mr. Churchill's refusal of the request for more copies.

THRONE SPEECH HILITES

VICTORIA (CP)—Highlights of the speech from the throne delivered Thursday by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross at the opening of the third session of the 25th British Columbia legislature.

1. Reorganization of the Department of Health and Welfare whereby the Mental Health Services, the Health Branch and Hospital Insurance Service will form one department and the Welfare Branch another.

2. The standing committee on labor will be convened immediately to study ways and means of halting the growing unemployment problem.

3. Increased financial aid will be recommended for school districts, the University of British Columbia and the Victoria College.

4. Provisions to expand the training and education of mentally retarded children will be introduced by the government.

5. Legislation will be introduced to establish a Horse racing Commission similar to the commission operating in Ontario.

6. Legislation will be introduced respecting compulsory utilization with compensation of machinery and equipment for use in fighting forest fires.

7. The government will ask for additional appointments to the B.C. supreme court.

8. Amendments to mining legislation aimed at encouraging exploration, and amendments to the gas act.

9. A trade and industry conference for the late spring, and a second international trade fair, similar to the one held in Vancouver last May, is planned for 1961.

10. The government plans increased credit under the Farmers' Land - Clearing Assistance Act and to lengthen the period of repayment.

11. Expansion of Poliomyelitis Immunization program benefits.

12. A new courthouse for Victoria.

Government Worries Over Unemployment

VICTORIA (CP)—British Columbia's five per cent sales tax was the biggest single revenue producer for the government in the 1957-58 fiscal year.

The public accounts tabled in the legislature shows the sales tax—which is earmarked for social security purposes—soared to a record collection of $87,244,382, almost $2,000,000 more than was collected in the 1956-57 fiscal year.

The government is no expected to make any change in the sales tax structure in its budget, which will be presented Feb. 6.

Motor fuel and fuel oil taxes realized $27,475,237, property taxes $6,463,390 and motor vehicle plates and permits $14,685,519.

LIQUOR PROFITS
Liquor sales totalled $93,000,000 and brought a $26,838,500 profit into the province's consolidated revenue fund.

On the expenditure side, the accounts showed a new record outlay of $90,000,000 in the building and maintenance of highways, roads, bridges, ferries, docks and wharves.

Meanwhile, British Columbia's Social Credit government plans to put its legislative emphasis on more aid to education, to fostering agriculture and making its widespread welfare plans into a separate ministry.

These were the highlights of the government's intentions as disclosed Thursday in the speech from the throne, read at the opening of the third session of the province's 25th legislature.

The speech was read by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross to a House crowded with eminent visitors. Traditionally attired in his blue and gold court uniform and white-plumed hat, the Queen's representative took 30 minutes to go through the document, one of the longest on record.

DEEP CONCERN
Premier Bennett's government said it was "deeply concerned" about unemployment. It planned to recommend immediate calling of the standing House committee on labor which could meet with interested groups and "conduct an inquiry into the ways and means of improving the situation."

The speech promised legislation to provide increased financial aid for school districts—how much was not indicated. There also will be "increased financial assistance" for the University of British Columbia and Victoria College and an expanded system of loans, scholarships and bursaries.

The speech also predicted that during the session, expected to last about eight weeks, legislation will be introduced to increase the amount of credit extended farmers and prospective farmers for land clearing. The period of repayment will also be lengthened.

SPLIT DEPARTMENT
The present health and welfare department, under Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin, is to be split. The speech said that legislation will be introduced to make mental health services, to

On more aid to schools, the University of British Columbia and Victoria College, Dean Geoffrey Andrew, deputy to the president of UBC, said: "I am very glad to hear of the increased aid."

On health and welfare: Dr. Gordon Ferguson, executive secretary of the B.C. Medical Association, said: "The association has been hoping for some time that mental health services would be brought under the minister of health."

It is a logical step. . . . Mr. Win Gopel, executive director of the Association for Retarded Children said this about aid for proposed increased aid for retarded children: "Wonderful. . ."

On appointing judges, John Farris, president of the Bar Association, said: "This is welcomed. The trial list is badly behind. The present judges are overworked. . . judges are working harder than they should. They haven't enough time for reflection, and they should have."

On commandeering fire fighting equipment, a logging executive said the industry is not in favor of this legislation. He said the reason is because operators provide equipment for protection of the forest they are working in, and to deprive them of this equipment leaves them defenceless.

RCMP Seize Douk Truants

NELSON (CP)—RCMP seized two truant Sons of Freedom Doukhobor children Thursday in a surprise raid on two homes in nearby Shoreanec.

The children, aged 8 and 10, were taken to the government dormitory school at New Denver.

Cold Facts Must Decide Value of the Avro Arrow

Newspapers all over Canada, inspired by the desire of the A. V. Roe officials to put their Arrow in production, are being deluged with skillfully written articles pertaining to the Arrow.

What are the facts?

The acknowledged world speed record by plane is 1,404 m.p.h.

There is nothing on record to prove that the Arrow has, or even can exceed this. The officials say it can. But assertion is not proof. The only proof admissible is that created and acknowledged by government officials following tests made.

Only recently, news came out of Britain that their new fighter plane has created a new world record, proved by actual tests under the eyes of competent officials.

On a measured course of 100 miles, the British "Lightning" flew the distance in slightly under the three minute mark.

On the return journey it was the same. The "Lightning" was then credited with a speed of more than 2,000 miles an hour, and was hailed by the BBC as the "fastest plane in the world," by actual test and flight.

Here you have convincing proof of the wisdom of the Federal Government in its dealing with the Avro firm.

They have every wish and desire to aid Canadian industry, but to expend up to two billion dollars is taking a risk that is not warranted, and is extremely unwise.

The Avro people expended large sums to develop its Arrow, we all admit. It was a calculated risk it had to take. If it succeeded it would have reaped large profits. It it fails, then the risk is its own, and not that of the government.

There is no sentiment in business, and there cannot be. The federal government is already faced with an oversized deficit and must consider this. Cold military and fiscal facts must decide the case, regrettable as it may seem to be, and we are sure that such will be the case at Ottawa.

Labor Rapidly Growing Up

Labor appears to be suffering from the reputation which half a century ago clung to capital, of displaying ruthlessness to any and all opposition.

It used to be that certain employees could not obtain jobs because no one would hire them, especially if they were suspected of being union organizers. Today the wheel has gone full cycle: it is more the laborer's own organization, the union, not the employer which can deprive a worker of his right to work.

It used to be that workers were subject entirely to the terms of management. Now, to an increasing extent, the workers are subject to the terms of their own unions.

It used to be that a man had to pay a foreman to get job. Today he has to pay a union before he can work. Yes, times do change.

It used to be that unfeeling management here and there resorted, directly or indirectly, to force to quell workers' uprisings. This use of violence, more than anything else, strengthened the labor movement and won acceptance for it.

Today the shoe is on the other foot, here as in other particulars. Recent U.S. investigators have shown that certain unions have been guilty of violence. Alienation of public sympathy can be achieved quicker by the use of violence than by any other means. Those who live violently die violently, as certain a law in human affairs as the law that old age brings decay.

Seeing violence in its own ranks, labor now has no other course but to clean house and take steps to achieve greater moderation and respectability. This next phase of development must tame the fringe elements which have been giving responsible trade unionism such a bad name of late.

The vast majority of unionists, and society generally, will welcome the opportunity to eliminate these excesses, in the interests of a more mature and balanced economic and social outlook.

Fifty years ago the doctor usually counted the patient's pulse a full minute, looked at his tongue, thumped his tummy, and gave him a goshawful dose of calomel.

US Navy Proves Enemy Sub Could Decimate With Germs

By ROGER GREENE

WASHINGTON (AP) — An enemy submarine, masked by fog or darkness a few miles offshore, could blanket almost any American coastal city with deadly germs spreading over thousands of square miles. "Fantastic? It already has been done—by U.S. Navy ships using craft, travelling two miles off-harmless materials. Dr. Leroy D. Fothergill, scientific adviser at the U.S. Army's germ warfare research centre at Ft. Detrick, Md., recently gave the American Medical Association an inkling of what could happen.

Fothergill said a U.S. Navy ship, travelling two miles offshore in moderate fog, sent up a spray of biological aerosol containing a non-poisonous organism. The mock attack lasted 20 minutes, using 130 gallons of spray. The germs were detected as far as 23 miles away and covered 100 square miles.

COVER HUGE AREA
Then came a much larger test. A ship cruising 10 miles offshore disseminated 450 pounds of an inert substance along a 156-mile course. The wind-borne substance was detected 450 miles inland, it blanketed a region covering 34,000 square miles.

What is being done to cope with the possibility of such an enemy attack, using live germs or deadly chemical gas? The defence department, with its policy of secrecy on the whole subject of germ warfare, is wary about answering such questions.

The office of civil and defence mobilization says that in the event of a nerve-gas attack, there should be a supply of three or four anti-gas atropine syringes on hand for each individual. The agency has stockpiled 5,500,000 doses of atropine, with the kits costing $1.55 for a four-dose package including hypodermic needle for injection.

Although atropine is the recognized treatment for nerve-gas victims, Maj. Gen. William M. Creasy, former army chemical corps chief, has pointed out one sobering flaw in its use. Creasy told a congressional committee: "If you get there fast enough, you can save the man's life (with atropine) if he doesn't have too much of a massive overdose. It is a matter of getting there awfully fast, though."

"Thirty seconds," said Creasy.

Construction Body Hits Closed Shop

MONTREAL (CP) — Labor is bent for the coming year, such as to make "contributions" to ceeding Harold J. Ball of Kitchener, Ont.

National vice-presidents are J. M. Soules of Toronto and A. G. Sullivan of Halifax.

In one of its statements of policy the association said: "Continued efforts should be made to reduce housing costs by greater individual productivity, more cost-conscious design, on-site assembly line construction, availability of serviced lots at reasonable cost, and modernization of building codes and research activities."

The association recommended that the National Housing Act be amended so that federal financing would be available to builders for watermain and sewers. It also recommended that the purchase of existing houses be permitted under the National Housing Act.

Another resolution urged extension of sales tax exemptions to include all construction materials and equipment.

The association chose J. E. Harrington of Montreal as presi-

Royal Yacht Manning Plans Irk Canadian Navy Officials

By M. McINTYRE HOOD

Special London (Eng.) Correspondent
For The Kelowna Daily Courier

LONDON—An interesting story is going the rounds of the Admiralty offices in Whitehall regarding the manning of the royal yacht, Britannia, for its journey up the St. Lawrence River with the Queen and Prince Philip in June. The story was being circulated on the eve of the departure of the yacht from Portsmouth for the Far East, where it will pick up Prince Philip at Rangoon in about six weeks' time.

A major coal shortage faces Kelowna residents. Coal dealers reported they have been deluged with requests for supplies since the cold weather started, and this morning only a few tons of nut coal were on hand.

With people golfing in Halifax, building sand castles at Toronto's Sunnyside and shovelling snow in Vancouver while the oranges freeze on the trees in California—all in a January week-end—it's hard to say what the world is coming to.

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—During two years as president of the women's association at a United Church here Mrs. T. M. Smith never missed a meeting. At the end of her term, she was made a life member.

PLEADED PASSENGER

BELLELEVILLE, Ont. (CP)—A Belleville woman who gave a taxi driver a $50 bill by mistake for a $2 fare, stopped worrying after the cab driver later discovered the mistake and returned the bill.

The story is that Canadian naval department officials were very much disappointed when their proposal that the Britannia would be entirely manned by the Royal Canadian Navy for the St. Lawrence journey was rejected by the Admiralty. The Canadian Navy was ready to provide the yacht with its entire complement of 225 officers and men. It was proposed by Canada, that even the captain, the flag officer of the royal yacht, Rear-Admiral Peter Dawson, should be replaced by a Canadian commander for the journey.

PROPOSAL REJECTED
The Canadian proposal was given serious consideration by the Admiralty, and by senior officers aboard the royal yacht. It was rejected because of the complications that would arise from having to train a substitute crew, and give the officers adequate experience in handling a valuable ship under the scrutiny of a critical world.

As a concession to Canadian feelings, however, it was agreed that a token force from the Royal Canadian Navy, consisting of two officers and 15 ratings, would form part of the crew of the Britannia when the Queen makes the inaugural trip up the St. Lawrence Seaway on the yacht next June.

FIVE NOW ON YACHT
Five of those selected from the RCN for these positions of honor reached England a few days ago, and duly took their places in the crew of the Britannia. These consisted of a cook, a signaller and three seamen.

They are the advance party of the 17 who will eventually be on board the ship, and they will have the experience of accompanying Prince Philip throughout the whole of his Far East tour after he joins the yacht at Rangoon.

They were on board and settled down as part of the crew when it left Portsmouth on its long journey to meet Prince Philip.

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

By THE VENERABLE D. S. CATCHPOLE

TELEVISION ANONYMOUS

I am seriously thinking of starting a branch of Television Anonymous which will have as its object the reclamation of television addicts. I am sorry to advert to this matter once more, but someone has very kindly supplied me with an answer to my last column on this subject by referring me to a text from the Bible, a hymn from the Anglican hymn book and a copy of the Prayer of St. Francis of Assisi. I am not quite sure what was intended but I have a suspicion that my soul was considered to be in danger. The note was unsigned, which gave me the idea of Television Anonymous. The prayer of St. Francis was very beautiful, but as everyone knows, St. Francis was for the birds. He had an obsession about birds. He was accustomed to preach to them. A very wise choice of audiences. I would say, inasmuch as they could not answer him nor send him anonymous prayers.

I don't want to be unkind about St. Francis. He must have been a very good man indeed; but I cannot help wondering whether he had anything much to divert him from the path of righteousness. We know that he did not have television. He did not have radio. He did not have picture shows. When the time came for him to say his prayers he could concentrate on what he was doing without visions of "Have Gun—Will Travel" flitting before his eyes. Lucky man! He had never heard of Paladino or Zorro. You just cannot get away from these creatures of the home screen. Not even at church, apparently, because I saw a bus which is used to transport people to their devotions and in the dirt which had adhered to the side of the bus was inscribed the word "ZORRO".

When St. Francis sang his hymns of praise, he had no other tunes in mind, I feel sure. He was not pestered with singing commercials, nor did he have, ringing in his ears as he went to bed, the catchy jingles about Bat Masterson and company. By the way, I do not really know whether St. Francis sang songs of praise. If he did I only hope they were of a different calibre to some that afflict my ears from time to time over the radio; but then he sang to the birds, if he sang at all, and I dare say they were not critical.

In those times a society to rescue addicts would not have been necessary. Those who lived in the olden days had to get used to the mosquito, chorus, the cricket on the hearth, and so forth, but they had nothing like the everlasting struggle that we have to engage in today. I think they must have been simple folk, for they had no complications except a little torture now and then. We cannot be simple folk. We have to be highly complex. Even children have to be able to read social with one section of their minds and follow the adventures of Rin-Tin-Tin with another section. For us moderns, life has become complicated by the necessary division of one's time between earning a living, doing one's duty and managing to be home to watch the unsmiling plainclothes somewhat stout man in "Highway Patrol" snap the words "Let's go!" to his inferiors.

Thank you so much for listening to my Television Blues. Perhaps out of your long experience (I'm a newcomer to this disease) you can help me to attain to sobriety. If so, would you kindly get in touch with Television Anonymous? Perhaps they will invite me to become a member. I have a suspicion that if St. Francis of Assisi were alive, he and I could go together and learn to shut our ears and close our eyes to this sinister influence which has come into our homes. It is the mark of the devil that we always seem to enjoy such sinister influences!

OTTAWA REPORT

Embarrassing Queries Loom

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

OTTAWA — With Parliament assembled here once more, MPs will be scratching their heads to find pithy questions to fire at the administration; questions loaded for bear or loaded for dears, according to the political stripe of the questioner.

Among the questions which will probably be asked by MPs who have done their homework, we may expect the following:

"Since the government considers that its available supply of public funds is at present subject to calls of greater urgency than the purchase of works of art—with which most Canadians agree—will the minister responsible for the CBC assure the House that his already expensive charge will not at this time be permitted to increase its costliness by building the proposed elaborate head office on the extravagant riverside site at Ottawa recently purchased by the CBC?"

High on the list is sure to be: "Can the minister of finance tell the House what was the cost to Canadian taxpayers, for transportation, accommodation, meals etc. in respect of Mr. Elmer Diefenbaker, when the Prime Minister invited his brother to accompany him on his official tour around the world?"

And for purposes of comparison there may be: "Can the minister of finance give the same information in respect of Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell and Mr. Jean-Paul St. Laurent, when the prime minister in 1954 invited his son and his daughter to accompany him on his official tour around the world?"

JOBS FOR THE BOYS
As patronage is getting a good airing, we may expect this: "Will the secretary of state say whether, after the defeat of the Liberal government of Nova Scotia at the polls in 1956, a defeated cabinet minister was put on the public payroll as a federal civil servant, either at the suggestion of a then federal cabinet minister or otherwise? If so, was that person appointed as the result of the usual advertising and competitive examination for the vacancy to be filled, or did that person receive unusual preference in the circumstances of his appointment?"

No Opposition MP is likely to fall into the trap of asking the same questions about defeated conservative provincial ministers, but we may hear: "Will the secretary of state, as the minister through whom the Civil Service Commission reports to the House, say how many officials now holding posts as deputy minister were appointed newly to the civil service by order-in-council of Liberal governments, and how many were similarly appointed by Conservative governments?"

SARNIA'S ALERT M.P.

We may expect Mr. J. W. Murphy, Conservative M.P. for Lambton West, to ask a question along these lines: "Has the secretary of state for external affairs received a satisfactory explanation from the auditor-general in respect of the apparent disappearance of $30,500 of the taxpayers' money in connection with the purchase of our ambassador's residence in Brazil?" This information was sought in vain by Mr. Murphy several times last session.

Some MP conscious of the uneconomical operations of the CBC may ask the minister of national revenue: "What was the cost of the recent CBC television program on which Blair Fraser of Ottawa interviewed the jailed New York columnist Marie Torre? How much travelling was necessary by each of the participants, and does not the CBC retain a representative in New York City who could have carried out that interview without travel and hence at a much lower cost to the taxpayers?"

"Dedicated" Soprano Magnificent

By BETHEL STEELE
Stanley Bligh, Vancouver music critic, recently "jacked up" artists for being paid on false pretenses.

To quote Mr. Bligh: "Some artists are dedicated to their work. Others merely consider public performance as a means of making a living. Some give of their best wherever they are. Others on tour take the insulating attitude that they are 'in the sticks' and need not bother very much. It is a dedication to a task that spells lasting success."

Last evening, Adele Addison, Negro soprano, gave a magnificent example of true dedication. Miss Addison is a trouper. She arrived at Penticton by plane one half hour late. The limousine had left without the Kelowna passengers.

She was tired and emotionally upset because of the delay in arriving here. Yet, somehow she was able to approach her evening performance with serenity and with complete mastery of her voice.

Great music in all its many facets is imbued with the vital spark of the divine. The interpretive artist achieves greatness only to the degree of his ability to associate himself with that essence.

This greatness, Miss Addison gave us Thursday night. The voice is rich in timbre. It has darkness and light and shades from forte to pianissimo. One seldom hears vocal phrases so exquisitely spun and rhythmically projected.

Miss Addison's singing is inspired by a controlled understanding of the emotional content of the words. This last, I again quote from Mr. Bligh in a criticism of Mr. John Gielgud because it expresses exactly Miss Addison's approach to interpretation. Her consonants and vowels give a dictation of exceptional clarity.

Miss Addison's reputation as a Lied singer was upheld and enhanced in the Schubert and Strauss by James Payne at the piano. The growth and development of the artist since I heard her at Aspen in 1956, is something to cherish in my memory.

I shall never forget the Purcell Evening Hymn. It was the highlight of the evening. With due respect to a wonderful audience might I ask that in future there be a slight pause before the applause. This should hold true for violinists and singers especially because of their ability to spin out the ending of a note.

Water's Unsafe At Five Schools

Five schools in the Kelowna area are using water of "unsafe quality," Dr. D. A. Clarke, medical health officer for the south Okanagan, has informed School District 23 (Kelowna).

Dr. Clarke gave figures arrived at from recent tests of domestic supplies in the area covered by the South Okanagan Health Unit.

He deemed a positive percentage of more than 10 per cent as "unsafe water of an unsafe quality."

The percentages for the various rural areas were: Winfield-Okanagan Centre, 40 per cent; Black Mountain, 28.4 per cent; South Kelowna, 48 per cent; East Kelowna, 11.7 per cent; Lakeview Heights, 11.7 per cent.

Board chairman C. E. Sladen pointed out that there was a chlorinator operating at the Lakeview Heights school and that a similar machine was planned for Winfield schools.

Trustee Mrs. E. R. Pelly wondered what use it was to chlorinate the school water supply, when the children would, on going home, drink the same domestic water.

Mr. Sladen was of the opinion that the purifying of school water was a step in the right direction.

Landing Couple Wed 50 Years

VERNON—Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. O. Harrison, of Okanagan Landing, celebrate their Golden Wedding today.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison are retired Saskatchewan farmers, coming to Okanagan Landing in 1948 to reside. In their retirement they have travelled widely—to Australia, New Zealand, and last year to Britain, flying via the polar route.

All Saints Anglican Church Women's Auxiliary honored Mrs. Harrison (immediate past president of the organization), presenting her with a copy of Dr. Margaret Ormsby's book: "British Columbia . . . History," and a bouquet of gold chrysanthemums.

Tour Plan Delights Becker

VERNON—"I am delighted," commented Mayor Frank Becker when he learned that Vernon is included in the official itinerary of the royal tour in July.

Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth, and His Royal Highness Prince Philip, will visit Vernon Saturday, July 11. They will be traveling by train.

The mayor said he had received a reply from General Graham, commissioner for the royal tour, who said he was "much impressed" with the offer of Delleliff Lodge as a resting place for the royal couple.

A two-day holiday "at an unspecified locale in British Columbia" begins after their visit to Vernon.

Mayor Frank Becker told council a point not to be overlooked was the fact that there are positively "NO mosquitoes at Delleliff Lodge!"

An annual "January thaw" is mentioned in New England records as early as 1798.

Committees Named To Direct 1959 Matters Of Kelowna School District

Appointment of committee heads and members for the current year took place at last night's bi-monthly meeting of the board of trustees of School District 23 (Kelowna).

The various committees, named by Chairman C. E. Sladen, are set up to allow the trustees to specialize in a few of the many fields covered by the board.

The committees remain virtually the same as last year, with the exception of the assignment of the three new members of the board—Mrs. E. R. Pelly, Dr. C.

B. Holmes and D. A. K. Fulks (of Peachland).

The finance committee will consist of Chairman Sladen and C. D. Buckland. Working with the secretary-treasurer, Fred Macklin, they will administer the monetary matters of the board, including the preparation of the soon-due budget for the year.

T. R. Carter and Mr. Fulks will be in charge of reconstruction and maintenance. They work in liaison with repair crews in the various schools and oversee building of additions as well as outdoor planning.

A new committee, called staff relations, has been instituted this year. Mr. Sladen said that the committee was established to improve relations between the trustees and teachers, and to further the idea of "teamwork."

Dr. Holmes, Mrs. Pelly and J. R. Hume will serve on this committee.

Mr. Hume and Dr. Holmes will also serve on the teacher personnel committee in connection with teacher employment in the district's schools.

Mr. Buckland, J. W. Marrook and Mr. Fulks will sit on the salary committee. Part of their duties will embrace the often contentious matter of wages for local teachers.

Messrs. Sladen and Carter will be in charge of the trustees' publicity.

New buildings and sites are also under the jurisdiction of Mr. Hume, Mr. Carter, Mr. Maddock and A. G. Pollard.

The latter two will form the transportation committee to administer such matters as school bus costs and related problems.

Mrs. Pelly and the logical choice of Dr. Holmes make up the health committee to complete the roster for the term.

Kootenays Hurt As Royal Tour Bypasses Again

TRAIL (CP) — Mayor L. A. Read of Trail, president of the Association of Kootenay Municipalities, expressed disappointment that the area has been overlooked in the itinerary of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

Mr. Read said that after being overlooked last year during the visit of Margaret, the Kootenays should expect some recognition this year.

"I understand," Mayor Read said, that Prince Philip expresses keen interest in industry. It would appear that he will miss an opportunity to see some of B.C.'s largest industry during the proposed tour.

"Apparently both the federal and provincial governments have chosen to overlook the Kootenays once again."

TEEN TOWN TALKS

Kelowna Teen Town's "Basketball Bounce" went off with a big bounce last Friday night, although some of you bouncers were a little late arriving—but, "better late than never." We were all pleased to see you come out and join the rest of the gang in a fun-filled evening.

Another evening of fun is being staged by Teen Town tonight, from 9-12 in Centennial Hall. This dance bears the fabulous title of the "Feeble Effort" and it is hoped that it will turn out to be the complete opposite.

A full canteen will be available and the usual good music will be playing. So kids, here's your chance to come out to our "Feeble Effort" and make it a non-feeble effort.

Also, don't forget, Kelowna Teens, the Okanagan-Mainline Teen Town spring conference to be held in Kelowna March 7 and 8 in the Centennial Hall. Come out and join in on the activities with all the other Teen Towners in the valley. You'll be sure to have a terrific time.

Museum Board Dissolves Its Annual Parley

VERNON—Vernon city council has endorsed a suggestion from the Vernon Board of Museum and Archives that its annual meeting be dispensed with, and instead of election of officers, the city will make appointments to the board.

George H. Melvin, board president, presented an amended constitution, which included the above changes; and a recommendation that an additional member be added to the five-man board.

Mr. Melvin deplored the poor attendance at the annual meeting, but emphasized that interest in the museum was evident through donations and visitors. Mayor Becker said he hoped that interest in the museum would continue, and that young people be encouraged in the work and activities of the museum.

Appointments to the board were: Dr. D. A. Clarke; David Howie; Fred V. Harwood; David Howie; Guy Byron Johnson and George H. Melvin. Ald. Geraldine Courter and the city clerk are ex-officio members.

Processors Get Sun-Rype Title

VERNON (Staff)—B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd., shortly will be known by a new name.

Delegates attending the annual convention of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association, Thursday, approved a resolution which will change the name of the grower-owned company to "Sun-Rype Products Limited."

The recommendation was made by the BCFGA executive. It was pointed out Processors have pushed the name "Sun-Rype" and it would be "good business" to change the name of the firm to tie in with its products.

DEPUTY MAYOR

VERNON—Ald. Harold Down, senior member of 1959 city council in terms of service, was appointed Monday night as Vernon's deputy mayor for the current year.

Newest MLA Seated But Not In His Predecessor's Place

VICTORIA (CP) — Donald Brothers, newly-elected Social Credit member for Rossland-Trail, isn't sitting in his predecessor's seat in the legislature.

Mr. Brothers was elected Dec. 15 following the resignation of Robert Sommers, former lands and forests minister, on his conviction of charges of bribery and conspiracy.

Sommers' seat in the house has been taken over by Irvine Corbett, S.C. Yale, who put up most of Sommers' bail following his conviction.

Mr. Brothers has been seated in the over-flow section of the Social Credit back benches, where he will make his maiden speech in the house, the motion for acceptance of the speech from the throne.

Fruit Growers Express Confidence By Re-Electing Leaders Of Industry

By Daily Courier Staff Writer
VERNON — Okanagan fruit growers expressed a vote of confidence in industry leaders by returning them to office Thursday afternoon.

Re-elected were BCFGA president A. R. Garrish; the executive of the BCFGA; the board of governors of B.C. Fruit Processors; members of the northern, central and southern district councils, while one change was made on the board of governors of B.C. Tree Fruits and on the B.C. Fruit Board.

John Coe, Penticton, replaces W. O. June, Naramata, on the board of governors, while R. G. Penon of Creston replaces W. A. Kemp, who declined to run again for the fruit board.

SHIFTY TRIO IN HIGH GEAR

Shifty trio of the high-flying Packers are the Young-Packer-Durban combination, pictured above, laughing it up in the dressing room. Top threesome in last year's march to the Allan Cup final, they have been hampered for a while by a leg injury to Moe Young, left. In the last few games, however, Bugs Jones, centre, and Mike Durban have been really rambling, as line-mate Young has found his sea-legs again.

"Big Chief Thunderstick" Makes Pow-Wow Tonight

Big Chief Thunderstick will be coming to town tonight. Fred Sasakamoose, the colorful, full-blooded Cree with the mighty slap-shot, will be making his first appearance in Kelowna this year, tonight at 8 when the Packers host the Chiefs in a senior "A" league match. The "Chief Thunderstick" is a legitimate title, given to Sasakamoose last year in an on-ice ceremony, by officials of the Kamloops Indian Reservation. Tonight, members of the central Okanagan Indian population will be on hand to witness the welcoming ceremonies for the chief of the Chiefs, performed by the Great White Chief, in full Indian regalia.

EYE SECOND SPOT
The Chiefs will be seeking to down the league titlists tonight, with the idea of consolidating their hold on third spot, and possibly rising into second. The cellar position will be additionally unwanted now, since it has been determined that the "low man on the totem" will have to meet the Packers. Second and third meet in the other half of the semi.

The Packers are particularly interested in tonight's game from an attendance standpoint, since it is the first Friday night game under the new scale of prices, which gives all kids under 14 free admission, sets seat prices on the ends at less than the regular section, and sets a standing-room price. Last Wednesday the first night of the new ticket scale.

New Department Has Beefs Victoria Legislature Told

VICTORIA (CP)—The department of Recreation and Conservation, in its first report to the Legislature since its formation, said Thursday it had problems.

The department listed at least nine problems it thought were major in its operation. They were:

1. Pollution of sport fish areas.
2. Prevention of harm to sport fish.
3. The search for more game preserves.
4. Eradication of coarse fish—especially killer fish—and erection of barriers for that purpose.
5. Predator control.
6. Game damage to fertile areas.
7. Beaver control.
8. Hunting accidents.
9. Public relations. This, says the department, "is the most necessary in any game management program."

Ski Series Starts Sun. For Adults

A new series of ski lessons starts this Sunday.

Ski instructor Arnie Tensdale, who has been instructing novice skiers in the basics of the sport, will start a new class for adults Sunday at 1 p.m. Anyone interested in attending is asked to contact Dave Ritchie at 2825 for instruction, or be at the Black Knight Mountain Ski Bowl on Sunday.

The junior skiers will have a lesson period at 2 p.m. on Saturday, and lessons in ski racing will start at 3 p.m.

Tonight, there will be night skiing, with the slopes well floodlit, and, all towns running. Snow conditions on the hill are reported to be perfect, and the road to the bowl is well plowed and in good condition.

CONDITIONS EXCELLENT
A club official said yesterday that conditions have never been as good for the ski club, and the ski lessons given by Tensdale have proven to be so popular that an unprecedented number of people, both old and young, have taken up the sport.

Three towns give easy access to the hills, which include novice and experienced hills, ski jumps, and a long downhill run.

The recent commitment by the provincial government to keep the road open ensures skiers easy access to the bowl all winter long.

WOMEN'S CAGE STANDINGS

Following is the up-to-date standings of the senior "B" women's Interior Basketball League, including all games played up to January 21.

	W	L	P	PP	PA
Kelowna	9	0	18	431	199
Vernon	5	6	10	275	382
Kamloops	3	7	6	300	335
Penticton	2	6	4	198	288

Full statistics will be released at the end of league play.

PLAYOFFS
The semi-finals will be a best-of-three series, and will start in the week of February 9, to be completed at the latest by February 21.

The top team will meet fourth, and second will meet third. The team finishing highest in the standings at conclusion of league play will have the first game at home, with the third if necessary, also to be played on the home floor of the team finishing highest in league standings.

The winners of the semi-finals will meet in the first game of the finals during the week of February 22. In allowing teams the right to arrange their own playoff nights in the semis, please note that any difficulties encountered in getting teams to play on set nights should be referred to the senior "B" women's league manager immediately.

Jordan Pummels Guts

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Since he lifted the welterweight title from Virgil Atkins of St. Louis, Don Jordan has acquired a champion's confidence and pepped up his punching.

It took Jordan only three rounds Thursday night to dispose of Alvaro Gutierrez of Mexico in a scheduled 10-round non-title fight. They came in at 148 pounds each, one over the welter limit.

In the third, Jordan, of Los Angeles, pumped a right hand with lightning speed to the Mexican brawler's jaw. Gutierrez hit the deck, got up at five, and staggered into a neutral corner.

Jordan swarmed all over him, pumping lefts and rights to head and body.

Gutierrez's manager, Lope Sanchez, climbed into the ring and asked the referee to stop the fight.

Can Rocket Make It? Yes, Says Frank Selke

By MARVEN MOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Can a 37-year-old athlete, bone-weary from 17 seasons of National Hockey League competition, make it still another comeback after suffering a crippling injury?

Shrouded by the question is dark-browed, grizzled Maurice (Rocket) Richard, Montreal Canadiens' rightwinger and hockey's greatest all-time scoring star.

The Rocket suffered a fractured left ankle when the high-flying Habs fought to a 1-1 saw-off with the resurgent Black Hawks in Chicago last Sunday night.

OUT FOR A MONTH

Resting in his north-end Montreal home, his leg in a cast, he won't be permitted to don skates again for at least four weeks.

And then?

"I want to see what happens when they take the cast off," he told reporters. "I will not decide whether to continue in the game until I'm able to skate again."

Although in the twilight of his brilliant career, at the time of his injury, the Rocket was still one of the most feared forwards in the league.

He was named the top Canadian athlete of 1958 in a poll by The Canadian Press and he also received a "Big Brother" award as the Canadian providing the greatest inspiration to youth.

Frank Selke, Sr., vice-president and general manager of the Canadiens, states simply:

NEEDED REST
"Maurice will come back. This may be a blessing in disguise. He needed a rest. Now he'll have one and help us win the Stanley Cup."

Selke and the fans can also point to Maurice's record of durability. A broken ankle in his first NHL season almost nipped his career in the bud. That came 16 games after he first joined the club, but he bounced back the next year to pot 32 goals.

And last year an almost-severed Achilles tendon knocked him from action for three months after he had pushed off to one of his highest-scoring starts in years.

Again he returned with all his natural flair for the dramatic, firing two goals in his first game back from the sidelines. Then he went on to accumulate 15 tallies for a 28-game season and lead-lowering his five-day vacation in the playoff snipers with 11 goals.

606 GOALS IN CAREER

Before he fell near the boards in Chicago Sunday night—and felt something snap in his ankle—he bagged 17 goals in the current season, running his NHL total to 606 including playoffs.

In NHL action this weekend Chicago Black Hawks are in Detroit in an afternoon game Saturday while Canadiens are at home to New York Rangers in a night game.

Rightwinger Andy Bathgate, picked as the NHL's most valuable player at the halfway mark 1959.

defenceman Bill Gadsby were to dress for New York following their five-day vacation in Florida.

Boston Bruins round out Saturday night's action against Toronto Maple Leafs.

Sunday night Montreal is at Detroit, Toronto at Chicago and New York at Boston.

SIGN OF CONFIDENCE

various cuts with each play and he would return the foot signal with a signal of his own to tell Caldwell which way he would go. The cut would be the same for a running or a pass play. His signal would be some motion, such as touching his hands, tugging at his pants, or the like.

Blak said his "lonely end" offence achieved its purpose. Breaking up the corner defenses, Blak announced his retirement as Army football coach last week after 17 years.

CALLED HAZARD
LONDON (CP)—Motorcyclists were involved in more than one-third of the 953 road accidents during the first 10 months of 1958. "It is the same every time," said Councillor Mrs. Ethel Brooks, chairman of a road safety committee.

Blak told of the method devised to give end Bill Carpenter—who never went near an offensive huddle—the offensive play when he was honored Thursday night by the Touchdown Club.

"You noticed that Caldwell (quarterback Joe Caldwell) would stand facing the huddle sometimes with his left foot forward a bit," Blak began.

"Well, that meant a run. If the right foot was forward, there was going to be a pass. If his feet were together there would also be a run."

"Now Carpenter had to take mittee."

Judo Tournament Full Of "Firsts"

Tomorrow night's judo tournament will have several unique aspects.

The B.C. Closed Judo Tournament, staged in the high school gym at 2:00 (juniors) and 7:30 p.m. (seniors), it will also be the first competitive judo staged in Kelowna by members of the fair sex.

There will also be a demonstration, the first of its kind ever shown in Kelowna, by one of the top men in the world of judo, T. Inouye, seventh degree Black Belt holder, from Kodokan, in Tokyo. This demonstration will be on "Kato", the basic forms of the sport of judo.

TOP CONTENDERS

In addition, some of the top judokas in the province will be among the 100 entries from the established clubs in Vancouver, Steveston, Ashcroft, Vernon, Kamloops and Kelowna. In addition, there will be some entries from Penticton, where judo is being taught by Kelowna and Vernon instructors—the first time Penticton has ever been represented in competition. All members of the team will be white belts, both junior and senior.

Defending his title as Black Belt individual champion of the province will be Knobby Yamamoto of Vernon, one of the province's top active judokas.

The Vancouver club entries will be right on the bit, having had the benefit of Mr. Inouye's coaching for the past six months. Mr. Inouye, who comes from the world headquarters of judo, the Kodokan, is on a one year tour of goodwill, and is devoting his time to spreading the gospel of the ancient Japanese sport.

CLASSY JUNIORS

Defending champion Yamamoto will be bringing down the entry of youngsters from Vernon who took team honors for the Pacific Northwest in the recent tournament in Vancouver. One of the members of the team also captured the individual honors.

Kelowna's senior entry, rated as having a good chance to give a good accounting, are: Owen Murphy (brown belt), Dave Benney (brown belt), Don Dolman (brown belt), Fred Heinzelman (green belt), and Charles Grosso (green belt).

In the juniors, Kelowna will be represented by Ken Yamada, Terry Sakamoto and Tom Miller, in individual competition. A senior competitor in the individual classes will be Ralph Knorr (green belt).

The distaff side will be represented by Kelowna's Marion Fuller and Sharon Burnett, both of whom have a good chance to give a good accounting, are: Owen Murphy (brown belt), Dave Benney (brown belt), Don Dolman (brown belt), Fred Heinzelman (green belt), and Charles Grosso (green belt).

In the juniors, Kelowna will be represented by Ken Yamada, Terry Sakamoto and Tom Miller, in individual competition. A senior competitor in the individual classes will be Ralph Knorr (green belt).

The distaff side will be represented by Kelowna's Marion Fuller and Sharon Burnett, both of whom have a good chance to give a good accounting, are: Owen Murphy (brown belt), Dave Benney (brown belt), Don Dolman (brown belt), Fred Heinzelman (green belt), and Charles Grosso (green belt).

In the juniors, Kelowna will be represented by Ken Yamada, Terry Sakamoto and Tom Miller, in individual competition. A senior competitor in the individual classes will be Ralph Knorr (green belt).

Red Blake Gives "Gen" On "Lonely End" Play

NEW YORK (AP)—Col. Earl (Red) Blake, most prolific and successful in army's line of football coaches, at last has made public the secret of the "lonely end" play.

Blak told of the method devised to give end Bill Carpenter—who never went near an offensive huddle—the offensive play when he was honored Thursday night by the Touchdown Club.

"You noticed that Caldwell (quarterback Joe Caldwell) would stand facing the huddle sometimes with his left foot forward a bit," Blak began.

"Well, that meant a run. If the right foot was forward, there was going to be a pass. If his feet were together there would also be a run."

"Now Carpenter had to take mittee."

Canada, Russia Cinch A Berth

LONDON (CP)—Canada and Russia, winners and runners-up for the 1958 world hockey title, virtually drew a free ticket to the final round of the 1959 tournament in the draw for the preliminary competition announced by the International Ice Hockey Federation Thursday night.

Since the lineups of most of Canada's rivals vary only slightly from year to year, the IHPF had an easy job seeding the entries for the tournament in Czechoslovakia in March, ensuring that all the better-class teams get every chance to qualify for the final.

The 12 entries include hockey's big five—Canada, Russia, Sweden, Czechoslovakia and the United States—and seven outsiders whose championship chances are infinitesimal.

FIRST PLAY MARCH 5
For the preliminary round, which begins March 5, the teams are split into three groups of four for round-robin play, with the first two in each group qualifying for the six-team round-robin that will declare the winner.

Group A, playing at Bratislava, includes Canada, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland and Poland with the first two odds-on favorites to top the standings.

Group B, at Brno, should be a cakewalk for Russia and the U.S., who have Norway and East Germany to contend with.

Sweden, who upset the Russians in the 1957 final in the absence of a Canadian entry, appear to have a trouble-free round.

Group C, playing at Bratislava, includes Canada, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland and Poland with the first two odds-on favorites to top the standings.

Who's On First? Players Or Brass

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—There were two schools of thought at the National Football League's annual winter meeting today. To wit: The players association is making progress toward a pension for pro football players. The players association is being taken for the proverbial ride. Bill Howton, Green Bay end who doubles as president of the association, and his committee of six feel they are making progress.

Commissioner Bert Bell of the NFL gives the impression of a patient father who is willing to listen, discuss and investigate, and then give a reluctant, "no." The owners he directs apparently are of a like mind. SOLID OBJECTION George Preston Marshall, volatile owner of Washington Redskins, doesn't even bother with diplomacy or niceties. An avowed opponent of the association and its pension plan, Marshall sits outside the meeting room like a petulant schoolboy whenever the players discuss the pension with the owners.

Neutral observers believe the pension doesn't have a chance, unless some magic formula not now in sight is evolved to produce $213,000 in league-contributed money to finance the plan.

Prize Swede Pugilist Says All Or Nothing

NEW YORK (AP)—Sweden's Ingemar Johansson was due here from Sweden today to wrap up negotiations for a title fight with world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

The handsome, undefeated European titleholder was confident on two counts—he will get the contract and then the crown in the June fights.

"I'm sure I will win — otherwise I would never sign my name on the paper. If you don't believe in yourself you cannot be a boxer," he said on boarding the U.S.-bound plane at Goteborg.

Promoter Bill Rosenzohn says the fight will be made—for either New York, Los Angeles or Colorado Springs, Colo.—despite some puzzling statements by Patterson's manager, Gus D'Amato.

D'Amato had said he still was negotiating with other contenders.

D'Amato blasted the International Boxing Club again and accused it of trying to prevent a Patterson-Johansson fight.

Asked point blank whether there will be a Patterson-Johansson fight, D'Amato replied: "The situation is the same as it was before. I see no obstacles in the way of a title fight between Patterson and Johansson."

Well, didn't this mean there will be such a fight?

Yes and no, seemed to be the answer from D'Amato.

Getting after his favorite target, the IBC, D'Amato said: "They (IBC) and Jack Stemons (British promoter) offered Johansson a lucrative fight with Henry Cooper (British champion) although they knew Cooper had signed a valid contract with another promoter, Harry Levyne (another British promoter allied with D'Amato)."

"By offering Johansson a lucrative contract they put Johansson in the position to ask for concessions which no challenger is entitled to. I refuse to be the nutcracker."

Car King's Crash Was Simple Skid

LONDON (AP)—World auto racing champion Mike Hawthorn was killed in the kind of car crash he said should never happen to a good driver.

The hand-lacked wheels of his dark green Jaguar skidded along a quiet, seemingly harmless English road. The car hurtled into a truck, careened off into a tree. The car was wrecked. Hawthorn was killed outright.

A few weeks ago at the pinnacle of his fame, the handsome 29-year-old Hawthorn declared confidently that a skid was the "absolutely final brand of a careless driver."

"But it happens and you must learn what to do," he conceded Hawthorn Thursday, it happened on a carefree drive through the countryside.

It happened to the man who had risked death on the world's most dangerous courses and who thought he had put the death crash behind him forever.

Only one month ago Hawthorn decided to give up the title he had won in the world's most dangerous sport.

Hawthorn was depressed by one nagging thought—the death of three of his closest friends on the terrible path to glory.

HIDEOUT'S CRASH In the 1955 Le Mans 24-hour sports car classic, a hideous crash killed 85 fans in the stands and gave Hawthorn the greatest nightmare of his career. He was later cleared of charges that he indirectly caused the accident by swerving into the pits without warning.

Hawthorn's death left the once great cohorts of auto racing with only two of the recent stalwarts still alive — Argentina's Juan Manuel Fangio and Britain's Stirling Moss.

Fangio has retired. Moss still is chasing the coveted world title.

Racing Officials Happy With Commission Plans

VANCOUVER (CP)—Racing officials accepted with delight Thursday the British Columbia government's announcement that it intends to establish a provincial racing commission.

Dr. John Caldwell, president of the B.C. Racing Breeders' Society, summed up general opinion when he said he is "sure everyone must gain by a board such as this and I think it's high time we had one."

The government announcement, made Thursday in the speech from the throne in the legislature by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross, said only that the commission would be established.

But Ken McConnell, racing writer for the Vancouver Province, said the commission will be made up of four members and a secretary and will function on the same basis as that governing the Ontario Horse Racing Commission, the only other commission in Canada.

McConnell said there is no certainty that the commission will operate this year, but "every horse player in B.C. will endorse a commission."

"It means horse racing is now big business, the same as in New York, Florida and California."

Prince George School Champs Defend Title

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—Prince George's champion high school curlers make the first stab at defending their B.C. title here today.

They meet the Kitimat high school rink in overtures to the playoffs which will be held here this weekend.

The Kitimat team arrived here by train early today. Finalists from Salmon Arm, Kimberley and Haney will travel to Prince George aboard a chartered aircraft tonight.

The visiting curlers and their coaches will be guests at a banquet given by the sponsors of high school curling competition in B.C. and Alberta.

Tyson Bowled MCC To Victory

SYDNEY (Reuters)—Accurate pace bowling by Frank Tyson today caused New South Wales to slump from 152 for two wickets to 171 for six on the opening day of the match against MCC.

Tyson's final burst of four wickets for nine runs with his last 26 balls largely justified captain Peter May's decision in sending New South Wales in to bat.

World Casabah Tournney In First-Class Mix-Up

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Another victory by host Chile and official threats of forfeiture to balky Russia and Bulgaria left the world amateur basketball championships in a scramble today.

Chile, which sat out preliminary play as the host nation, raced to its second straight victory, 83-71, over Puerto Rico Thursday night in the seven-team round-robin finals, after Brazil had won its opening game, over Nationalist China 94-76.

The Chinese also figured in the Russian-Bulgarian situation. The Communist pair, having reaffirmed its decision not to play Nationalist China because "they do not represent a nation," now face forfeiture of all victories by the International Basketball Federation.

If Russia refuses to play China Jan. 30 and Bulgaria does not go through with its scheduled game Jan. 31, the international group, ruled, the teams would not only forfeit those games but would have all other victories in the tournament taken away from them. Each team plays the other in the round-robin windup.

The U.S., a hand-picked force team, meets Puerto Rico and Bulgaria faces Brazil in tonight's doubleheader.

The Americans have swept through four games so far, three in the preliminaries.

In the consolation round Thursday night Canada was defeated 71-69 by the United Arab Republic.

Gail White Wed In Pretty Rites

The Church of the Immaculate Conception was enhanced by pale yellow chrysanthemums for the high noon nuptial ceremony uniting Gail Florence, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. White, and Aubrey Cooper Davies, only son of Mr. H. C. Davies, and the late Mr. Davies of New Westminster.

Msgr. W. B. McKenzie officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The fair bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an exquisite gown of Chantilly lace and net. The fitted lace bodice, fashioned with scalloped neckline and lily-point sleeves, joined a bouffant lace and net skirt with front panel of lace.

A halo headdress of orange blossoms caught her finely embroidered illusion veil of finger tip length. White chrysanthemums and sweetheart roses formed the bridal bouquet.

Bridesmaid for her sister was Miss Edmee White, in a ballerina length model of blue nylon chiffon. Her silver cap, designed with wing effect at the back, matched her silver slippers. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums in contrast.

Little Judy White was frocked in lily of the valley sprigged yellow nylon chiffon in Kate Greenaway style. Her Victorian nosegay was composed of lily of the valley and a sweetheart rose.

Groomsman was Lowell Questel of New Westminster, and serving as ushers were Duane Thomson and Robert White. Mrs. Reginald Martin was soloist with Mrs. E. Lansdowne providing the organ music.

A reception for 50 guests was held at the Elks Hall, where Mr. Harold Thomson made the toast to the bride. Sweetheart roses in silver vases flanked the three-tiered wedding cake which was topped with two miniature doves with silver rings. Servers were the Misses Pat McGregor, Louise Orwell, Lynne-dell Brooks, Diane Robertson and April White.

Mrs. White chose a flowered gown of blue silk for her daughter's wedding, with which she wore beige and black accessories.

OKANAGAN MISSION

OKANAGAN MISSION — The annual general meeting of the Okanagan Mission Community Hall Association will be held in the Community Hall on Tuesday, Jan. 27. A large turnout is looked for.

His many friends and acquaintances here will be saddened to hear of the death last week at his home in Brooks, Alberta, of Matthew Sarsons. He was well known here, as he visited his brother, the late C. F. Sarsons, on many occasions.

The annual general meeting of St. Andrew's Church Guild (evening branch) was held on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. N. T. Appley. The following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Cecil E. Simkins; vice-president, Mrs. M. G. Turner; secretary, Mrs. Hal Odum; treasurer, Mrs. T. B. Upton; sunshine fund, Mrs. R. C. Kerr; and hon. president, Mrs. C. H. Harris.

Various committees presented their reports. The three big projects of the year were the turkey dinner, the children's fashion show in the spring, and catering for the Lieutenant-Governor's garden party in July. A number of prayer books were bought for St. Andrew's Church in the spring, and kneelers made for the pews just before Christmas. The guild had a stall at the parish bazaar in November. A substantial sum of money has been handed over to St. Andrew's Church to help with improvements.

Joan McClure, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. McClure, entertained a number of little friends on Wednesday when she celebrated her eighth birthday.

TRAVELER'S DELIGHT

By VERA WINSTON
The dinner dress, covered by its own jacket, is a boon to the commuter and to the traveler who has to limit her baggage. This smart and useful ensemble is of black crepe, the high-waisted dress detailed with a deep, square neckline; short, set-in sleeves; and tiny gathers at each side of the waist. The jacket, too, has a high waistline and is softly tailored with interesting detail.

FARMER NOT AFFECTED

Super-Market Stamps Pay Customer Survey Reveals

WASHINGTON (AP)—A United States survey shows that customers pay more for food at supermarkets than those in non-stamp States. But the value of the stamps amounted to about two per cent of the money spent at stores giving stamps, the studies showed. The survey covered the period from November, 1953, to March, 1957. In a report on the study, the department said the use of stamps apparently has no significant effect on prices paid to the farmer.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Youthful Drink And Drive Son Needs Direction Immediately

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have a wonderful son—handsome, intelligent, a real nice kid. He has many, many friends who hang around our house all the time. The phone is ringing constantly and so is the door bell. You wouldn't think I had a problem, would you?

But the other evening Bud, who is only 17, was out with a couple of his friends; and came in at midnight, staggering. He had been drinking; and they had gone across the state line so they could drink.

His father and I were very much upset because (1) he was doing the driving; (2) he is so young to be starting this sort of thing; (3) I was married before to an alcoholic, and have a complex on youthful drinking.

FAMILY LIQUOR IS DISAPPEARING
This isn't the first time he's had too much to drink; and liquor is disappearing in our house. I notice because we seldom drink; and then only one or two cocktails if we have guests.

Are we making a mountain out of a molehill? We pride ourselves on being understanding and tolerant; but we also think we see danger ahead. I can't trust my own feelings. My son says "all the kids drink"—you just aren't one of the gang if you don't.

I want Bud to have a mind of his own and not be a sheep; but he'd rather have the approbation of his friends. To be one of the gang seems more important to him than anything else. The kids he goes with all come from nice homes. What is the matter? Too much, too soon? I am afraid he will become an alcoholic. How can I prevent this?—A.R.

LIFE LACKS DIRECTION
DEAR A.R.: What is the matter, you ask—too much, too soon? On the contrary, too little, and too late, I think, on the score of education for living.

As I get the picture, Bud and his friends have no true concepts about what they are living for—either in terms of Now, or over the Long Haul.

Insofar as they know, or feel, with Ram Gopal, an Indian dancer.

"I wanted to study dancing in India and Ceylon, because it is supposed to be the birthplace of dancing as we know it," she said.

"There are jobs for all talents in ballet," she emphasized.

Interest For All In Ballet Staging

By EDNA USHER

Canadian Press Staff Writer
TORONTO (CP)—Ballet is growing in Canada, and with it grows the need for backstage workers, says Kay Ambrose, artistic director of the National Ballet Company of Toronto.

Not everybody interested in ballet can become a ballerina, but there are plenty of rewarding careers behind the scenes for those who are prepared to work, she said.

They can be costume designers, specialists in branches of costume such as matching colors and painting cloths, or they can design and build sets. She says there is unlimited scope for electricians and special-effects men.

LOWLY START

But anyone who wants to get into backstage ballet may have to start at the bottom, and that's how Miss Ambrose started.

English by birth, she was brought up in France, and then studied art at Reading University, England. She had learned something of ballet in a French boarding school. At Reading, she played centre on a boys' ice hockey team.

Her first job after graduation was as cook, for a pair of vegetable platters, and with it she worked for a newspaper illustration of sports and drama, which included interviews and sketches of ballerinas.

Loose Lines Linger In Italian Apparel

By JENNY NICHOLSON

FLORENCE, Italy (Reuters)—Two high fashion designers, Simonetta and Fabiani, presented their versions of the new Italian line for spring and summer Wednesday night.

Both Simonetta's and Fabiani's skirts were short—some reached only to mid-knee.

Simonetta, who presented the "pregnant" look four seasons ago and since has been the mother of many ideas that have been adopted or endorsed by Paris, shows dresses and coats with an oval silhouette this season.

The backs of coats, dresses and even evening dresses are cut on the cloak principle and are flat or draped in front. Narrow sleeves emerge through the fullness as if through the side vents of cloaks.

Sechelt Nuptials Of Interest Here

The Holy Name Catholic Church was the scene of the wedding of a former Sechelt May Queen, Diana Wheeler and George Frank Eberle, Reverend Father J. O'Grady, S.C. officiated. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wheeler of Selma Park and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Eberle of Kelowna.

The bride wore a lace and net gown over taffeta and carried a white prayer book with a cascade of red rose buds. A sweetheart halo of orange blossoms held her fingertip veil.

Mrs. Arvella Benner as matron of honor was gown in yellow net over taffeta with blending shades in her colonial bouquet, and floral headdress. Bridesmaid, Miss Irene Tyson, wore American rose net over taffeta with floral headdress, and blending shades in her colonial bouquet.

Little Jo Anne Wheeler, sister of the bride, wore an embroidered yellow dress and carried a small colonial bouquet as flower girl. Bud Eberle was best man, and ushers were Leo Johnson and Joe Benner.

A reception was held in the beautifully decorated Legion Hall for 100 guests. Mr. W. J. Mayne, long-time friend of the bride's family, proposed the toast to the bride. The young couple left for a trip to Kelowna and way points in the interior of B.C.

Mrs. V. E. Lewis Re-elected Circle Head

The annual meeting of the Jubilee Circle of St. Michael and All Angels' Church was held at the home of Mrs. Ted Whitshire.

The following were elected as officers for the coming year: president, Mrs. V. E. Lewis, re-elected; vice-president, Mrs. G. M. Evans; secretary, Mrs. M. Whitshire; card secretary, Mrs. C. Brownlee; publicity, Mrs. G. E. Hickling; phone committee, Mrs. G. Hill; and sick visiting, Mrs. W. Treadgold.

The president read her report for the past year, a very busy one, and the treasurer gave the financial report showing a very active year financially.

It was decided to change the meetings to the second Thursday of each month. The retiring officers were given a hearty vote of thanks for their splendid effort in the past year.

WARDROBE WONDER

By ALICE WINSBY

Separates are firmly endorsed as an important part of the wardrobe and we wonder how we ever managed without them. For one thing, separates cut down considerably on alteration costs. For another, they have fine mix-and-match properties. From Paris comes separates worked out at the designing stage for color and texture, and created expressly for the American market. A knitted acetate and nylon tricot in rich, Parisian red, makes up into an overblouse and slim skirt. The deep curved neckline is underscored with a self band that comes out to tie in front.

Glenmore Square-Dancing Class Holds Boys' Registration Open

GLENMORE — Forty enthusiastic boys and girls from grades four, five and six, attended the square dance class under the sponsorship of the Glenmore Community Club square dance committee last Saturday night.

Although several grade one, two and three children also appeared it has been found impractical to start a class this winter for this age group.

Because of the necessity of all children attending regularly, the committee had stated that children had to be registered by last Saturday night. However, the class still is urgently in need of more boys and registration for boys of this age group will remain open this Saturday when the class meets again at 6:30 p.m. in the activity room of the school.

There is no fee for children under 14 years for any Community Club activities but parents are urged to secure their memberships to the club to assist in the financing of the various endeavors.

PTA NEWS
At the January meeting of the Glenmore PTA it was decided to hold no regular meeting in February. Instead, the PTA will hold a giant auction in the activity room of the school. There will also be home baking. All donations for the auction will be welcome.

Don Braund, principal of the Glenmore school, is receiving congratulations on becoming the father of a little son last week.

CENTENNIAL COMMITTEE

The Glenmore Centennial Committee met for the last time on Wednesday evening at the home of Jack Snowsell. The treasurer reported all accounts paid. The committee unanimously agreed that the small balance remaining in the account be turned over to the Glenmore Community Club.

The secretary reported that there were still some Centennial booklets for sale and that these also would be handed over to the Community Club who would handle future sales.

A motion was passed requesting the secretary to give a report to the Glenmore Municipal Council and request that as the project is now finished and the centennial year ended, the Centennial Committee be disbanded.

Scotty Angus tells me there are still a few tickets available for tonight's Burns' Night celebration. Contact him right away if you would like to attend.

Monday evening the young people in your household are invited to enjoy a piano recital by a talented young Canadian artist. There is no admission charge for students, and those of you who enjoy a fine evening of piano music would do well to take the family to the Senior High School auditorium Jan. 26 at 8 p.m.

The trend towards juvenile delinquency among young Canadians is not apparent at Unitarian Service Committee headquarters, 78 Sparks St., Ottawa.

From Duncan, B.C. to White Head, N.B. high school clubs have conducted door-to-door clothing drives for the relief of destitute Korean families and Arab refugee babies. They have sung Christmas carols, given up gifts and treats, and collected pop bottles and coat hangers to provide school supplies and USC scholarships so that gifted Korean orphans may have the chance to continue their schooling.

Other groups have held talent shows, rummage sales and penny auctions, and turned every cent of the proceeds over to the USC for food and free medical care for Indian children in remote villages and city slums.

From the USC point of view, Canada's future looks very bright indeed, entrusted to the generous and loving hands of the coming generation!

On the way to Jerusalem, Jesus Mark 10:32-33. James and John asked Christ to sit on His right hand and one on His left hand. He said this was not to grant. Mark 10:35-40.

cause of their request, Jesus said to them: "Whosoever of you will be the chiefest shall be servant of all." Mark 10:43-44. Christ told His Apostles that even He "came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many." Mark 10:45.

SUNDAY LESSON

Jesus Stresses The Cost And Sets Us His Example

Memory Verse: "Whosoever will be great among you, shall be your minister." Mark 10:43.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

What constitutes greatness in a man or woman? Is it his or her station in life? Or is it character? Is it in other words, ministry to others, regardless of self?

The younger classes in the Sunday school might be asked, Dr. Wilbur M. Smith suggests, if they had only one favor to ask of Jesus, would they ask it for themselves or for someone else? The answer would show the individual's character.

The older classes might be asked to name men or women who, in their estimation, have been great people in history or now.

Two brothers, James and John, sons of Zebedee, came to Jesus asking Him this favor: "Grant unto us that we may sit, one on Thy right hand, and the other on Thy left hand, in Thy glory." Mark 10:35-37. The request was certainly selfish of these two Apostles. Why should they be honored in heaven before others? The Lord's answer was: "Ye know not what ye ask: can ye drink of the cup that I drink of, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?"

They answered in the affirmative, probably not knowing of the martyrdom, which Jesus knew was to be His.

And Christ said to them: "Ye shall indeed drink of the cup that I drink of; and with the baptism that I am baptized withal shall ye be baptized: But to sit on My right hand and on My left hand is not mine to give, but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared." Mark 10:39-40.

Although these companions of Jesus had been with Him and witnessed His selfless services to many, they still did not follow His example in their desire to be honored before their companions. They were not perfect Christians at this time. After Christ's death, they faithfully followed in His steps, forgetful of themselves.

The other apostles were angered by this request of James and John, but Jesus "called them to Him, and said unto them, Ye know that they which are accounted to rule over the Gentiles exercise lordship over them; and their great ones exercise authority upon them. But so shall it not be among you; but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your minister: And whosoever of you will be the chiefest, shall be the servant of all. For even the Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many." Mark 10:42-45.

This, then, is the ideal which we must impress on our young people, from the small to the adult groups. Jesus came to minister to others, not to save Himself. So we must all strive to follow His example.

To the small girls in a class it might be asked, do they do cheerfully the household tasks given in their homes? The dishwashing, dusting, etc.? Do the boys in a family take over their "chores" of keeping the lawn mowed, shoveling snow in winter, knowing that is the service which Christ meant as applied to our modern day?

There are many fine organizations in our own country whose aims and ideals are contained in the words, "institutions for service." How many can you name in your own community and in the world?

You and I may never attain greatness in the way that our names appear in newspapers, magazines etc., "but we can all attain the greatness that Jesus right hand and on My left hand is not mine to give, but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared." Mark 10:39-40.

SPEAKING HERE... R. A. Smithwick, president of the Seventh Day Adventist welfare organization from Mission City, B.C. (See story).

Previous "John XXIII" Has Magnificent Tomb

By EUGENE LEVIN

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — The tourists were downright puzzled. They had just come from Rome where a vigorous Pope John XXIII ruled the Vatican. Now they were in Florence looking at the tomb of Pope John XXIII.

The guide saw the bewilderment on their faces. "I'm sorry," he said. "I must explain. This is the tomb of a Pope John XXIII who died in the 15th century. He really wasn't a legitimate pope. He was an anti-pope, a false claimant to the papacy."

"For years I have told tourists that this is the tomb of Pope John XXIII. I never had to distinguish between him and the present Pope. Now I must, and I keep forgetting."

MAGNIFICENT TOMB The tomb of the 15th-century John long has been one of the sights in this city of arts. If anything, the election of a new Pope John XXIII last October should make it more of a tourist attraction.

Donatello and Michelozzo, two of the greatest Italian Renaissance sculptors, have given the anti-pope a magnificent tomb worthy of a legitimate claimant to the papacy. It is located in the Baptistery, just outside the historic Cathedral of Florence.

How did a man considered a false pope get such a fine tomb? The anti-pope, born about 1370, was Baldassarre Cossa, son of a noble family of Naples. He was eight years old when the "great schism" split the Roman Catholic Church. One Pope, Clement VII, set up shop in Avignon, France; another, Urban VI, in Rome.

The schism continued through the reigns of popes Boniface IX, Innocent VII and Gregory XII in Rome, while the anti-pope, Benedict XIII, succeeded Clement in Avignon.

Cossa, a youth of talent and energy, entered the service of the popes of Rome and became a cardinal at the age of 32. Seven years later he played an important part in the council of Pisa, which sought to resolve the schism. Instead, it merely created another schismatic faction.

POLITICAL OVERTONES The council ruled that both Gregory XII at Rome and Benedict XIII in Avignon should be deposed. Then Cossa brought

CHURCH ROUNDS

Highlight of the annual meeting of St. David's Presbyterian church was the election of officers for three-year terms. They were: Alex Haig, Alex Granger, D. W. Long and R. O. Pennie. R. B. Winsby, J. D. Monteith and Mrs. J. A. Goodman will remain on the board for two more years, with Moir Hey, Charles Smith and Mrs. P. C. McLaurin beginning their third and final terms.

The meeting was attended by Rev. Alex McSweeney, Kamloops Presbytery convener, Rev. W. C. McBride, superintendent of missions for B.C. and Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Kendall, Pentecost. THE FIRST two weeks in February have been set aside as an evangelistic service period at the Mennonite Brethren church.

Speakers will include Rev. Herbert Jantzen, who has recently returned from the European Evangelical crusade and Rev. P. R. Toews, pastor of Fraserview Mennonite Brethren church.

THE ANNUAL church meeting will be held at the People's Mission on Friday, January 30, at 7:30 p.m.

Reports of 1958 activities will be presented, and a program of special numbers will be featured. Lunch will be served at the conclusion of the meeting.

IT WILL BE "bring a friend Sunday" January 25 at the People's Mission. Services will begin at 9:45 and 11 a.m. and at 7:15 p.m. Pastor Bourke will continue his sermons on "The six days of creation" at the morning services, while the subject for the evening service will be, "Is your name written there?"

THE SERVICE this Sunday at St. Paul's United church will be conducted by a group of young people from the Naramata leadership training school.

These students have been doing considerable research on the subject of alcohol and its effects on Christian living.

DUE TO THE absence of Pastor Herman Epp, this Sunday's service at Christ Lutheran church will feature Pastor Forstak from Oliver. Mr. Epp is attending a committee meeting of the church at Regina.

The services will both be held in the evening—in German at 7 and in English at 8 o'clock.

Play With Religious Theme Is Smash Hit On Broadway

NEW YORK (AP) — "My God, my God... though I am innocent, Thou crushest me with a tempest... Why? Why? show me my guilt, O my God!" That anguished cry went up long ago from a devout man who was overwhelmed by disaster, and it goes up nightly today on a Broadway stage.

It marks a new kind of theatre, and it has a powerfully rugged religious impact. The question—Why should God allow the righteous to suffer calamity?—has troubled minds through the ages, and it strikes a searing note in this day haunted by forces of indiscriminate destruction.

"I, who called upon God, am broken... Terrors are burned against me... Why?... There is no justice... He destroys both the blameless and the wicked." This is the tortured protest of the Biblical Job. His modern counterpart in Broadway's newest and most unusual hit is a businessman in the title role of "J.B."

Rutland Adventist Group To Host Officers Institute

A church officers institute is to be held in the Rutland Seventh-Day Adventist church on January 24, from 3 to 5 p.m.

Attending the session will be church officers and pastors from the Seventh-Day Adventist churches in Kamloops, Salmon Arm, Malakwa, Armstrong, Vernon, Winfield, Kelowna, Rutland, East Kelowna, Penticton and Oliver.

The purpose of this institute is to give instruction as to duties and responsibilities of officers of the church for this year.

United evangelism, with all departments of the church co-ordinating in a program of spiritual revival and evangelism, is the theme.

R. A. Smithwick, president, British Columbia Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists will be the main speaker coming from the head office for the province in Mission City.

F. B. Wells, Oshawa, Ontario, who has been newly appointed youth director for Adventist churches in Canada will also speak at the session.

Desmond E. Tinkler, director of laymen's activities and health and welfare services for the province of British Columbia will conduct instruction for his department.

A special feature of the session will be the training film for church public relations secretaries.

Trio Saved From Icy Graves

MONTREAL (CP) — Three of four men who were stranded three days on an Arctic ice floe have been returned to Montreal. They praised their luck, radio and sleeping bags for keeping them alive. Maurice Violette, 53, of Montreal; Raymond St. Armand, 48, of St. Johns, Que.; and Gilbert Gagnon, 45, of Jonquiere, Que., were passengers in a transport department Norseman plane that was twice forced down onto floating ice pans by bad weather.

ing ovation after they entertained delegates at the Wednesday night banquet. The musical aggregation, more than once, was called back for an encore. And Vernon's mayor, Frank Becker, and trade board president, S. J. Ladymann, were proud.

Resolutions occupied the main portion of the business on the final day of the convention. At times the convention was inclined to get "bogged down" over the discussion of business that vitally pertained to the welfare and the future of the industry. But Mr. Garrison allowed delegates a free hand in debating technical points of a resolution.

By the narrow margin of 37-34, delegates defeated a resolution which called for the introduction of a new variety of apple.

The resolution was introduced by the BCFGa executive, and suggested that a new super-red strain be called "Okanagan Red."

At one point during the discussion, it was suggested by a delegate that it be branded "Marshall Red" in recognition of the work that Dr. James Marshall, of the Summerland Experimental Farm, had done for the industry.

SPRAY LABELS
Delegates approved a resolution from Oliver asking that chemical names of ingredients be clearly shown on spray materials. It was charged that some spray ingredients lose their effectiveness after long periods of storage. Another resolution from the south end of the valley — Osoyoos — asked that chautauqua meetings be held in November or December so that tree fruit planting can be planned in the fall, in line with the latest information on varieties and marketing trends. This was defeated.

Considerable debate took place on grader research. The matter was introduced by Summerland growers. It asked that $2,500 be provided for the BCFGa to conduct research into the matter, and although a motion was made to table it until the April special meeting, it was carried. Summerland local pointed out that despite new machinery for dumping, sorting, sizing and handling fruit, the grading of fruit had improved very little over the past 40 years.

Dealing with the maturity of peaches, a Penticton resolution asked that packinghouses designate canneries peach tonnage to competent growers for harvesting to canneries maturity, and that the canners for proper maturity be provided for the BCFGa concerned. The resolution was carried. It was stipulated that over and above the peaches destined for canneries purposes, the balance would be delivered to packinghouses for fresh fruit purposes at a suitable maturity.

WINFIELD OUTVOYED
A recommendation from the Winfield-Okanagan Centre local asking that the board of growers look into the possibility of direct payments by Tree Fruits to growers "on an equal basis" was turned aside. It was pointed out that growers often have to wait until the packinghouses first receive their cost of packing before the growers receives any returns, with the exception of small advances which in relation to the amount advanced by B.C. Tree Fruits, is disproportionate.

Regarding the size of cherries, delegates approved a resolution asking that the minimum size of Deacon, Windsor, Royal Anne and Black Giant be increased 12-16 inch to a ten per cent tolerance down to 3 1/2 inch in any one year when deemed necessary. Delegates unanimously defeated a resolution from the Creston local, calling for the publication of salaries of industry officials.

Regarding apricot returns, growers gave the nod to a resolution from Penticton asking that the industry undertake an "intensive study" of the situation as it applies to apricots to ascertain whether any improvements in the packing, pooling and handling of the fruit can be found which will increase the return to the grower.

A lengthy resolution on ice grade pooling, submitted by the executive on behalf of the apple pooling committee, was tabled until the April meeting. Dean E. D. MacPhee dealt with this matter extensively in his report. For this reason, delegates thought it would be advisable to table the matter until the Royal Commission report was fully discussed at the special conference.

POOLING
Two other resolutions affecting pooling were carried. One asked that the price differential between medium and larger apricots, except in canneries variety, be removed. The other one was on pooling of Van cherries. It recommended that the pooling committee review the marketing history of Vans prior to pooling with a view to deciding whether an arbitrary differential be established between Vans and Bings, Lamberts, Sam and Stars.

Delegates favored the idea of looking into the practicability and feasibility of shipping apple juice to the Vancouver market via bulk containers. It was pointed out that the citrus industry is presently conveying juices to metropolitan markets by this method.

B.C. Fruit Processors received a "bouquet" when the Osoyoos local sponsored a resolution expressing appreciation to the company for paying the way in delivering fruit to the city.

gether with the health branch the hospital insurance service, into one department of health services and hospital insurance. The present health and welfare welfare branch will become a separate department.

There was no official indication whether Premier Bennett thus plans to add another minister to his 12-man cabinet. But sources close to the government indicated there would be no new ministerial appointment but that instead, the new welfare department might be taken over by Provincial Secretary Wesley Black who is also minister of municipal affairs.

RACING COMMISSION

The speech also forecast establishment of a horse racing commission for the province, the calling of a trade and industry conference in the late spring and the benefits of the polyomylitis immunization program would be expanded during the coming year.

This latter forecast was taken by some observers to mean an extension of free Salk vaccine immunization to adults.

The speech said there will be a recommendation for annual observance of Douglas Day in the province each Nov. 19, the anniversary of the day when Sir James Douglas founded the first colonial mainland government at Fort Langley in 1858.

KIWANIS CELEBRATE

The club, seventh to be formed in Canada, has been "big brother" to nearly 700 boys as part of its project of providing care for fatherless boys.

Fleming Predicts Economic Resurgence During 1959

OTTAWA (CP) — A steady resurgence is in store for the Canadian economy this year, Finance Minister Fleming says, but a delicate balance must be kept between growth and stability.

Mr. Fleming says the best hope for sustained economic growth lies in maintaining a steady recovery from the recession of 1957 and early 1958 rather than in an inflation-producing boom.

He spoke to the Dominion Marketing Association holding a joint annual meeting here with the Lake Carriers Association of the United States. The ship owners and operators unanimously endorsed a resolution opposing tolls on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

"Promise of a steady and sustained recovery. Yet there is little indication of a resurgence of boom proportions. This we must consider to be advantageous."

He saw new strength and activity in the economy. Unemployment this winter would be proportionally smaller as a problem than last winter, he said.

Production was relatively static last year but growth factors were working. An upturn in corporate profits in the third quarter affected a broad range of industries, and played an important role in strengthening business confidence.

There was strong indication of expansion in market demand. An important present condition outside Canada encouraged expectation of an upturn in world demand for industrial materials.

Those who feared inflation as a long-run danger should take comfort that in the last four months expansion of money supply was curtailed, selling of government securities by the public reversed and the deficit expected still was $700,000,000 as forecast last summer.

Electrolysis Solves Excess Hair Problem

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

While too little hair is a major problem for many men, superfluous hair is just as big a problem for countless women.

Fortunately for the women, it is much easier to get rid of excess hair on the face, body or limbs than it is to grow new hair on a bald head.

PERMANENT METHOD
There are various methods of getting rid of superfluous hair, but the only permanent way is through electrolysis. Since some excessive hair growth may be linked to a medical disorder, I suggest that you see your family physician or dermatologist before consulting an electrologist.

Besides, asking your doctor to suggest a good electrologist is a much more scientific way of getting one than by simply leafing through the telephone book.

ELECTRIC NEEDLE
In electrolysis, a small electric needle is inserted into the hair follicles right down to the hair root. Then a very, very small quantity of electricity is discharged. This destroys the hair root forever. It is then a simple procedure to remove the hair with a tweezer or by some other process.

Generally, either one of two methods of electrolysis is employed. You might ask your doctor which one he thinks is best for you. Expense may enter into it, too.

NEW METHOD
The older method is called the multiple needle procedure and employs several needles at the same time, possibly as many as ten.

Although a newer method uses only one needle at a time, it is faster—and more expensive.

This newer technique, called the high frequency method, uses an extremely thin platinum needle only 3/16 of an inch in length.

TIME-CONSUMING
Now, when and where should electrolysis be used?

Well, that, of course, is pretty much up to the individual. Electrolysis is both time-consuming and expensive.

For this reason, many doctors hesitate to recommend it except for removal of superfluous hair on the face. As for arms and legs, it is up to you to judge whether the cost and effort make electrolysis worthwhile.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
W. P.: I was operated on for prostate trouble six months ago. The trouble has now recurred. Is this possible?

Answer: When the prostate is increased in size, it sometimes is impossible to remove it entirely when surgery is performed. Therefore, the condition may recur.

(Top Record-Holder in Masters' Individual Championship Play)

QUIZ

You are South, neither side vulnerable. The bidding has been:

East South West North
1 ♠ 2 ♦ 3 ♠ 4 ♠
Pass. 1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 ♠

What would you now bid with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠ A Q 5 ♥ Q 8 2 ♦ A J 7 4 ♣ 9 6
2. ♠ A 9 5 ♥ Q 7 8 2 ♦ A K 7 4 ♣ A 3
3. ♠ A Q 8 2 ♥ A 9 3 ♦ K J 8 ♣ A J 4
4. ♠ A Q ♥ J 6 ♦ A K Q 9 4 3 2 ♣ K 7
5. ♠ K J 3 ♥ A J 7 4 ♦ A K Q 3 2 ♣ 6

1. Pass. There is no obligation on the part of a player who makes an informative double to bid again when his partner responds in minimum terms. If the doubler has only the minimum values required of him for his first bid, there is no necessity for him to speak again, since he has already announced this amount of strength.

In the present case, South has no additional values beyond those already shown. North cannot have a strong hand, because he would have jumped to two hearts if his hand were such as to indicate a game opposite a minimum takeout double. Since there can be no game, no further action is called for.

2. Three hearts. This hand is much more promising for game purposes than the preceding one. Although there are only 14 high card points, which is the approximate minimum for an informative double, the heart response raises the overall value of the hand to about 18 points.

The satisfactory trump support, the singleton club, the control in all suits, add up to a possibility of game. But, since North's response was forced by the double and he may have a poor hand, all that can be done at this point is invite him to go on to game.

3. One notrump. This bid, in conjunction with the double which preceded it, indicates pretty exactly both the distribution and the high card strength held. The fact that another bid is made shows that the double was not of the minimum class. If partner is unable to bid again over one notrump, there can be no game.

4. Three notrump. Even though North's heart response was forced and his hand may be near worthless, a unilateral game undertaking is in order. Nine tricks at notrump appear very probable. There is not much point to showing the diamond suit when the indications are so strong that the best chance for game lies in notrump.

5. Four hearts. So little is needed from North to produce ten tricks with hearts as trump—for example, Q-x-x-x of hearts—that a game bid is clearly indicated. It would be incorrect to jump to only three hearts, a bid which is strongly invitational but can be passed. Partner should be relieved of the strain of deciding whether or not to go on.

Feature Player Always Bridesmaid Never Bride

NEW YORK (AP)—That face is awfully familiar. You know you've seen it somewhere before. Wait a minute! It's that fellow in the movies. Always plays the tough guy. Oh, what's his name?

That, in a way, has been the story of Horace McMahon's life. If people could only think of his name, he'd be famous.

McMahon has been in 134 movies, 60 television shows, more than a score of Broadway plays. You can see him almost any night on the late TV movies, driving the get-away car or violently doing in one of his fellow men.

People have grown so accustomed to his face they're always confusing him with other actors or with friends out of the past.

OVERLOOKED GROUP
Such is the fate of the featured players, the small, skilled army of professional actors who never get the star dressing room, rate only an abbreviated biography in the playbill, never hold press conferences, seldom see a psychiatrist, and whose parts might range from 10 lines to 40 seconds of script.

Broadway and Hollywood could hardly exist without them. They make the plot, compound the tragedy, set up the laughs. In a murder plot they're judge and jury, bailiff and witnesses. When the war hero makes it through the enemy lines against all odds, they're the odds. Without them, there would be no problem, no hero, no play.

You can see them almost any afternoon at the Lambs Club, stationed at Camp Croft, S.C., pleading up their mail, shooting a fast game of pool before the matinee, chatting endlessly over coffee or beer about the one subject that never fails to thrill them: The theatre.

Horace McMahon has been in the theatre for 32 years, all his working life. He has never been a star, but he has not given up hope of becoming one.

ALWAYS A GANGSTER
For years in Hollywood he was cast as a gangster, not the psychological killer or the crime-bent victim of fate, but in his own words "just a bread and butter hoodlum, a meat and potatoes thug."

The long black overcoat, snap brim fedora and curled lip were his working uniform for films like Boston Blackie, Roger Touhy, Gangster, Duffy of San Quentin, The Last Gangster, Gangs of New York, Gangs of Chicago, Lady.

Even in period pieces, he fell into the mold. In Marie Antoinette, he ran through the streets shouting, "We want bread!"

Now in Say Darling on Broadway he plays a press agent. But he still faces the inevitable question: When some one thinks they're a play.

"Say, buddy,"

YARMOUTH, N.S. (CP) — Last of the former street railway conductors here, Joseph Muise has retired after serving the local public utility more than 44 years. He has worked in different capacities since streetcars were removed about 1930.

ENERGETIC GROUP

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP) — The women's society of a Greek Orthodox church here has raised $1,350 to buy chandeliers for a new church. The group, with less than 50 members, collected the amount in one year.

In 10 years, the American Astronautical society was told in Washington, there could be a space station orbiting hundreds of miles above the earth. The report was made to the society by scientists of Lockheed Aircraft, who said the various sections of the station could be rocketed into space to be gathered and assembled by manned craft. This illustration shows the manned craft, lower left, guiding a piece of a cylinder into position where, joined to others, it would be the living quarters for the space community.

When completely assembled, the space station would be powered by a nuclear assembly and could travel to any desired spot above the earth. Inhabitants would be well shielded from harmful rays and would have their own atmosphere sealed into the cylinder joined together in the shape of a wheel and distant from the atomic jet exhausts that propel the craft.

GOLDEN OWL CALLING

By BRIAN MILLER

Pictures of all clubs, divisions, band and orchestra and rep teams in football and basketball were taken last week in the auditorium, for the 1959 KHS Annual. Paul Ponich, Kelowna photographer, took the pictures of the smiling, upturned faces of Kelowna high students. We, along with Ferdinand, the owl mascot of the school, managed to get into several pictures where we didn't quite belong. On the average we manage to get into about 10 pictures a year for the annual, even if we don't belong to all the clubs.

Although we decided not to pose as vice-president of the Tid-dy-winks Club executive this year, we donned band uniforms and orchestra ties, stood in the ranks of drama, curling and students' council, and learned how to say "cheese". We have looked at more birds and said more cheese than anyone else in the school. We are anxiously awaiting a Hollywood screen test; until then, however, we will buy up dozens of copies of the new annual and give them to relatives next Christmas.

STUDENT'S COUNCIL

Ferdinand was in attendance at Wednesday's meeting of the student's council, where two important topics were discussed. The Kelowna chapter of Odd-fellows and Rebekahs is sponsoring a contest in public speaking, the topic concerning the United Nations. The winners of these local contests will go to a valley competition. Here, they will be eliminated.

The one winner will be sent, along with other winners from all over the northwest, to the United Nations headquarters in New York, New York. With others from all over the country, the winner from the Interior will tour the United States and Canada, stopping at such places as Chicago and Ottawa.

On coming back, the winner will speak to various organizations in his district about his tour. This contest has been going for some years and has been extremely successful every year.

ASSEMBLY CALLED

President Anne Rowles and the council felt that the winners should be from Kelowna high for the first time since the contest began. To get this accomplished, candidates will be selected from the student body, and an assembly will be held with these candidates speaking. Kelowna high will invite Robert Murby of Vernon, last year's winner, to speak to the assembled students. Publicity and organization have been left in control of the executive.

The other point is about the forthcoming high school conference at UBC, March 6 and 7. Candidates from Grade 12 will be found for the choosing of two representatives, a boy and a girl, to attend this conference. The purpose of the conference is to show high school students just what university is all about. The delegates will tour the university, hear lectures and receive pamphlets. They will then come back to high school and become student-agents. As student-agents, they will be the "information bureau" through which other KHS students who are going to university will find out about it. All Grade 12 students interested in this should see either Anne Rowles or Mr. Flower.

BOYS' HLY

A meeting of the Boys' H-Y was held at 7:30 in Kelowna high on Thursday evening to find ways of raising money for expenses, such as the forthcoming H-Y Carousal, coming either in March or April. Also, the new basketball uniforms expenditures were looked into. These will be paid on the installment plan.

Among the ideas put forth were the selling of group pictures from the H-Y sponsored Christmas dance, and profits from refreshments sold at basketball games. Another idea concerned a future pep rally, at which some of the more puny H-Y members (including "erstwhile existing" B. Miller) would play a comic game, referred by the teachers.

The Western H-Y conference will be held in Vancouver, during the Easter holidays, and will include delegates from all over the northwest. Plans were formed for sending several Kelowna members down at that time. The meeting ended about 8:45.

Great 1919 Molasses Flood Killed 21 - Events Recalled

By DICK SINNOTT

BOSTON (AP) — It was Wednesday, Jan. 15, 1919. Clocks ticked off the noon hour in Boston's busy north end.

The everyday bustle of activity echoed along Commercial Street, the north end's cluttered avenue of trucks, autos, bicycles and wagons.

A group of children romped beneath a huge tank — 58 feet high, 98 feet wide — that towered over the Purity Distilling Company plant. It contained 2,500,000 gallons of molasses.

A guard shoos the youngsters away.

The clocks' hands moved on toward 12:30.

Mothers beckoned children to lunch. One, Mary DiStasio, 11, ran back to take another look at the molasses tank.

A city laborer, Michael Sennot, sat down to lunch with five companions in the nearby public works yard. He munched on a ham sandwich.

It was 12:31.

A moment later, with only a muffled rumble as warning, the great molasses tank erupted.

An almost inconceivable tidal wave of sticky, black liquid spewed over two city blocks with such force it hurled trucks against buildings and crumpled houses.

TEAMSTERS CAUGHT

Husky teamsters, attempting to flee the fluid fury, slipped, rose, slipped again, and were engulfed. The bursting tank hurled bands of steel over the area. Some smashed against the Boston Electrical Railway's uprights, splintering them. Train service was halted on the nine-mile stretch between Chinatown and Hyde Park.

A dozen horses attempting to flee were swallowed up in the slithering mass.

Engine 31 fire house collapsed, trapping two firemen. Comrades rescued them after two hours.

At one point the molasses ran 15 feet deep.

Police, firemen and sailors from the Charles Town naval yard, attempting rescues, had to be rescued themselves.

COUNT THE TOLL

At 3 p.m., rescue teams and police were able to determine the toll.

Little Mary DiStasio's body was found beneath four feet of molasses. The public works yard was a blanket of molasses. Sennot and his companions were dead.

In all, 21 persons perished, 40 were injured and the damage ran to millions.

Families that fled to upper floors to escape the fluid's wrath remained for days prisoners in their own homes. They couldn't go downstairs, nor could they look out the molasses-coated windows.

RESTRICT DOGS

MELTON MOWBRAY, England (CP) — Council of this Leicester-shire community has banned all dogs not on leash on the town's streets. It is the second town in England to do so, since Slough in Buckinghamshire took a similar action last October.

BRITE BITS

STAFFORD SPRINGS, Conn. (AP)—Barbershop harmony beats English, math and rug-hooking combined in this Connecticut village.

The Stafford Teachers' Association Wednesday night opened registration for 10 adult education classes.

Nobody signed up for the liberal arts or rug-hooking. So nine of the classes were cancelled.

But a dozen men turned out for the course in barbershop harmony.

CHICAGO (AP)—Marvin E. Tench opened the door in his suburban Park Ridge home Wednesday when he thought a lost wail was calling. He had heard cries, "It's cold out here."

Tench found a large talking crow, apparently someone's lost pet. He said when he reached for the crow, it flew to the top of his chimney. The crow apparently got warm and soon took off.

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—W. C. Wadelich, dispatcher for the Lansing city snow removal crews, worked through the night sending out plows and trucks and handling hundreds of telephone calls.

Then his wife called up to report: "The car is stuck in the driveway, honey."

"Don't bother me now," said Wadelich, "you'll have to get it out yourself."

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The internal revenue service told a Dallas woman she would have to pay an extra assessment if she couldn't come up with a "reasonable cause" for filing a late income tax return. She replied:

"At the time I should have filed I was having a baby and it was next to impossible to fill out the return and get it in on time."

"Besides, my 19-month-old baby was also giving me some trouble."

The tax men dropped the extra assessment.

OKEMAN, Okla. (AP)—A government experiment may cost an additional $210 because of what it did to a curious cow.

Farmer A. L. Starkey sent a bill for that amount to weather bureau officials who, in turn, forwarded the message of the cow's death to Washington.

Weathermen sent a balloon to the earth's outer atmosphere. It burst and then settled back to earth—in a pasture owned by Bessie.

She munched on the equipment and despite efforts of a veterinarian, she died.

"You can call Bessie a victim of the space age if you want to," said Starkey. "But she was worth $210—maybe more."

NEW YORK (AP)—A 125-pound bronze bust is on the way back to the New York University Hall of Fame after a mysterious three-day absence.

The bust of James Kent, a chief justice of the state, was placed in a place where they could eat, sing, jump and laugh as they pleased without hearing it whisper: "Look at the minister; he's losing whatever mind he had."

Parva Republic Most Eccentric On Earth

By JOSE MARIA ORLANDO

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — When a moon rocket exploded on its launching pad in fashionable suburban Pocitos recently, neighbors merely shook their heads and smiled.

Pocitos folk are quite used to such goings on in the "Parva domus magna quies" republic, which claims to be the smallest and most eccentric nation on earth.

The rocket wasn't real — and neither is the republic.

The "Parva," whose Latin name means "small house, big joy," is an old and exclusive club where some of Uruguay's most prominent citizens retreat to forget the serious sides of their lives.

Parva. Long ago, it was decided that citizens could live in peace in their republic only if women were banned. The rule has been observed strictly ever since.

The Parva is ruled by a president and his cabinet of five ministers. But the most sought-after post is that of the great priest, appointed by the government for his erudition in luxurious living.

The great priest reigns over the Parva's 240-square-yard kitchen, chooses the menu for Sunday banquets and keeps a careful eye on the citizens who act as amateur chefs or waiters.

Good eating is a vital part of the Parva's friendship religion. At a recent banquet, the American and Russian ambassadors sat together in friendly fashion. They didn't talk politics. The subject is banned by the constitution.

Carnivals and celebrations are frequently the day's chief business.

Not long ago the Parvenses government decided to enter the space age.

The 20-foot "moon rocket," made of wood and paper, never got off the ground. When the countdown reached zero, it exploded. The fire-works hidden inside rocked the neighborhood when they went off.

OUTDOOR CAMPING GROWS FAST IN ONTARIO PARKLAND AREAS

By BEN WARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Twenty years ago most people looked upon outdoor camping as a rigorous activity suited only to boys scouts and over-enthusiastic sportsmen.

Today it's the fastest-growing pastime in Ontario.

Last summer an estimated 300,000 people spent weekends or vacations on camping trips in the province. If the current rate of increase keeps up the total will top the 500,000 mark next season.

Most of it was concentrated on parks operated by the lands and forests department which this year ran 57 camping sites. It's hoped to have upwards of 100 available within the next two years.

DEMAND GROWING

the parks division, admits the province has been unable to keep up with the rising demand for camping facilities.

"In two years we've almost tripled the number of parks available for campers but each one has been overcrowded almost as soon as it opened," he says. This year Ontario spent $2,000,000 on its camping parks development.

Preliminary figures on park use in 1958 have astonished everyone. In 1957 the number of people entering provincial parks for picnics, hiking, swimming or camping was 2,100,000, including 165,000 campers who stayed from one to 14 days.

This year it hit 3,500,000, including 275,000 camping enthusiasts.

These figures are for 57 fully-staffed parks where charges are levied for campsite use.

No account was kept for another 30 or so parks in various stages of development which were opened because of demand. There is no figure available for an estimated 50 sites privately operated.

Park authorities think a 300,000 total for campers is a minimum estimate.

CROWDED CAMPS

During the peak July-August holiday period some of the larger provincial camps were running 150 per cent of planned capacity by allowing campers to occupy undeveloped sections.

Bass Lake near Orillia, Sibbald

Point on Lake Simcoe, Pres-quille near Trenton, Ont., and Kakabeka Falls in the Port Arthur area reported volume up 100 to 400 per cent above the previous year.

Most of the campers came in family groups. Provincial park sites run 75 cents a day or $1 weekly for basic facilities which include a fireplace, firewood, pumped water and bench facilities. Some have washrooms with flush toilets and hot and cold running water.

Although fishing is usually available nearby, parks officials find most campers aren't too interested. Swimming, boating and trail hikes are the most popular forms of activity.

MOSTLY CITY

City residents form nearly 90 per cent of the camping traffic. About 15 per cent are from the United States or other parts of Canada. A large number come from Quebec, where public camping is not encouraged.

These figures are for 57 fully-staffed parks where charges are levied for campsite use.

No account was kept for another 30 or so parks in various stages of development which were opened because of demand. There is no figure available for an estimated 50 sites privately operated.
